European Solutions...
...delivered locally

A young company with established roots

- Univar appears to be a very young company, having only existed in its current format since July 2002
- However, the real history of Univar dates back much further. In the UK for instance the old Ellis & Everard (now Univar) is over 160 years old
- In Europe, during the 20th Century, chemical distribution thrived on a national level, with each European country having a very different list of names on the leader board
- In the 1980's and 1990's, consolidation of these national leaders gathered pace as companies looked for a pan European presence
- Univar played a particularly important role in this consolidation process, and following acquisitions in most European countries, now hold the N°1 position in speciality products

Saving you
