

Reach breakfast at the office in Copenhagen

A lovely day in June Univar's office in Copenhagen offered an appreciated Reach breakfast.

But we started with a tour through the brand new office in Copenhagen, which is situated close to the train- and metro station Nørreport. And the of course, a cup of coffee...

Ann-Christin Ericsson, the Nordic SHEQ manager, first talked about trends in the environmental and safety area. Moving responsibility from authorities to the chemical companies, different types of certifications, more severe legislation were topics to discuss. Under the heading own systems and initiatives we informed about how we are working internally with U+ certifications and how we support our customers with Pre Delivery Inspections. Then it was time for the topic of the day; Reach from Univar's point of view!

You can find a lot of information at the home page www.univareurope.com where one part is focusing on Reach-information to customer. Here you can find fact sheets, letters etc. Information is important we think at Univar, so both customers and suppliers can take part of the knowledge we gathered, but of course also our own personnel!

We closed with a buffet lunch for not only the Reach participants, but also for other invited guests.

On the whole – a successful day!
